THE URGE TO EXPLORE SPACE

Sense

When thinking of silence,
I hear gentle tunes played by an ocean orchestra nearby.

When thinking of silence,
I see waves crashing against the empty shore.

When thinking of silence,
I taste leaves colouring a blooming herbal garden.

When thinking of silence,
I smell fragrant flowers of a hot summer day.

When thinking of silence,
I feel the rustic surface of an old willow tree.

Blue Vision

Walking along Tranquillity Lake that autumn day,
A sweet scent of early winter encircled the air,
bright rays of light touched the trickling shades of blue.

Beneath the peaceful waving rhythm of sapphire blue,
a sea of forgotten dreams and memories,
cascading down the river, as I slowly pass along.

Echoes from the canyon walls sounded,
The calm river chanted.
Sounds of trickling water.
A vision of breathtaking blue.

Green Tea

In the peaceful plantation of green tea,
stunning shades of green,
embraced by the jewels of colour,
gently interweaved like a work of art.

The evergreen emperor of summer,
Yielding a fragrance beyond compare,
Eyelid shaped in beautiful emerald green,
Telling tales of legends from ancient tea.

Wind through the leaves,
playing a memorable lullaby
In this green tea heaven
I find peace.

A Scent of Flower

Trapped in sparkling small beads of fresh morning dew,
The bright sunbeams glimmer, sun is gently creeping,
breaking the hazy sky of early autumn bloom.

Recognising the familiar scent of blooming flower,
the mind is sent on a trip down memory lane,
Places once visited. Memories once distant,
Appearing before me as I inhale.

A Touch of Wood

Curling grains hidden within,
memories of a time once unfolded.
Shavings on the outcast wood bare witness,
to signs of passing seasons.

Within the depths of layers,
shapes hidden within the coarse bark,
spiral rings of ages,
I enjoy the tranquility of a touch of wood.

Multi-coloured textures

How to read the colour boxes

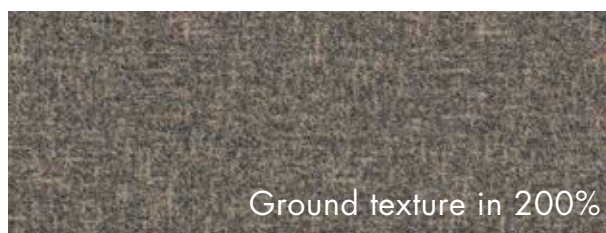

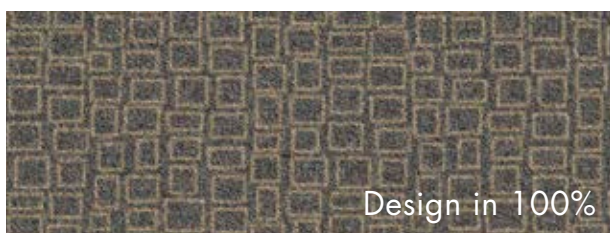

Almost all designs in the collection consist of a motif created by multi-coloured textures. Each texture used consists of several colours. The combination of these colours are illustrated under each design in the catalogue.

The first colour box, illustrated in the example above, shows the multicoloured texture created using the colours indicated after the symbol =. The first example to the left always represents the ground texture of the design.

Background textures

Each design in the catalogue is supplemented by an image of the texture used as ground texture in the pattern. Please note that these images all are displayed in 200 %. All background textures have been thoroughly tested to ensure a design of high quality. If choosing a texture which is not an original background texture, a sample and possibly a trial run must therefore be made prior to final production.

3 different textures

Throughout the collection, we have used 3 different textures to create a soft and harmonic look. Interweave gives the carpet a soft and vibrant look, Soft stripe I + II is a very delicate, stripy texture and finally, Miscellany, which consists of small random dots to add a vivid touch to the background colour.

These textures all consist of several colours. You can individually recolour each of these colours or you can take a look at page 86-89 and see the wide range of colour shades available for your exact texture. The overview gives you the possibility of replacing an entire row of colours instead of replacing colours one by one.

Recolour

Select design (designs from the collection)

Change colour of background texture – In the example only one of the three colours of the background texture is changed

Change pattern colour – In the example both colours of the pattern texture are changed into solid colour

In the example, all three colours of the background texture are changed, and both colours of the pattern texture are changed. RF52751361 and RF52751356 Interweave have been chosen from the texture overview pp. 84-89.

Pattern repeats

In the collection, you find three pattern types which are not repeated over the carpet width as normally. These are: Corridor, runner and bedroom, as indicated below.

Corridor 195 cm width

Runner 130 cm width

The collection is calculated according to a production width of 4 metres. To ensure optimal utilisation of this width, the largest possible number of runners is therefore always produced across the production width.

Runner: 130 cm – 3 runners

Corridor: 195 cm – 2 corridors

All bedroom designs are made specifically for hotel rooms. They can be ordered in any given length but can, however, not be joined over the width. Therefore, if working with a hotel room wider than 4 metres, we recommend you fill the remaining area with the background texture.

Bedroom 400 cm width
